(a) whether the Government have taken steps in the direction of full convertibility of rupee;

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI SATPAL MAHARAJ) : (a) to (c) The rupee was made convertible on current account in August 1994. A Committee headed by Shri S.S. Trapore on capital account convertibility appointed by the Reserve Bank of India had submitted its report on May 30, 1997. Its recommendations are under examination. RBI has decided to act on some of the recommendations. These include relaxations for exchange earners, in respect of retention of exchange earnings, to Indian project exporters in respect of prior approval from RBI while executing projects abroad, to authorised dealers in respect of forfeiting of medium term export receivables. The relaxation has also been accorded to corporate entities for opening offices abroad without need for prior approval from RBI, banks for providing credit/non-credit facilities to Joint Ventures (JVs)/wholly owned subsidiaries abroad. Banks will also be allowed to provide at their discretion, buyers credit/acceptance finance for facilitating exports of goods and services from India. Indian funds managers including mutual funds registered with SEBI will be allowed to invest in the overseas market subject to SEBI guidelines. Government has already announced that loans for period with average maturity of ten years and above will be outside the ECB ceiling. Some of the recommendations which have been partly implemented relate to borrowings/investments in the overseas markets by the authorised dealers/banks, forward cover for NRIs and gold imports by banks. Full convertibility is expected to promote free flow of foreign capital supplement domestic savings and lead to higher economic growth.
